

D-RING SHACKLE TAB INSTALLATION NOTES

The Poison Spyder Customs D-Ring Shackle Tab is designed to provide fabricators with a pre-made, easy to install recovery attachment point.

INSTALLATION NOTES

VERY IMPORTANT: Installation should only be performed by an experienced fabricator or certified welder. If you are not confident in your fabrication or welding skills, see your local fabrication or welding shop to perform final welding of the Shackle Tab.

Only attach the Shackle Tab to a strong, STRUCTURAL member of your vehicle, bumper, etc. The tab will see extreme forces under use, and although it is 1" thick, it is only as strong as the material it is attached to and the quality of the welds. If welding to round tube, make sure that it is AT LEAST .120" wall thickness if it is DOM or chromoly tubing, or at least .150" wall thickness for welded seam tubing. Flat plate should be at least 3/16" thick if gusseted directly behind where the shackle tab is welded, or 1/4" thick if it will be attached to a span between structural gusseting. These are basic guidelines and minimums, your final design should be subject to the scrutiny of an experienced fabricator.

Carfeully consider placement of the shackle tab. Confirm that its location is ideal for all aspects of use as an attachment point, clearance from the rocks, easy access, etc.
